The Earl G. Maxwell Arboretum on the University of Nebraska–Lincoln’s East Campus is a jewel in the crown of Lincoln’s green spaces. Honoring the legacy of State Extension Forester Earl Maxwell who first began planting trees for evaluation in this location, the Arboretum was formally dedicated on June 8, 1969 following action by the Board of Regents in 1967. A flagship site of the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, its eight acres provide access to a wide variety of trees, shrubs, vines, and herbaceous perennials both as single specimens and in genus collections.

Over the years, numerous individuals, academic departments, and civic organizations have worked to ensure that Maxwell Arboretum provides the university community and visitors with an educational as well as an aesthetic experience.

Help ensure Maxwell Arboretum’s continued growth in the 21st century by joining the Friends of Maxwell Arboretum (FOMA) in our mission to serve in an advocacy role providing input and financial support for the management and development of Maxwell Arboretum as an education, research, and outreach resource.

FOMA has rededicated itself to this mission and is taking our commitment to a higher level of participation in support of the Arboretum. We believe this is necessary to ensure its long-term viability for the future. We invite you to be a part of this exciting effort by becoming a Charter Member of the Friends of Maxwell Arboretum. In so doing, you get the benefit of knowing that you will

- Help preserve one of Nebraska’s premier arboretums
- Keep Maxwell Arboretum’s education and research mission vibrant
- Protect one of Lincoln’s best mid-city green spaces
- Participate in the development of new plans and policies for the Arboretum
